

Section 2: Revisions to outcomes and outputs

OUTCOMES AND OUTPUT GROUPS

AusAID's outputs of policy and program management reflect the Government's decision to provide effective assistance in partnership with developing countries to reduce poverty and achieve sustainable development. AusAID develops, manages, monitors and advises on the types of programs that are implemented and the impact these programs have on development.

There has been no change to AusAID's outcome structure. The only change to outputs has been to price in output 1.2, Program Management, as a result of additional supplementation for Comcover.

Table 2.1: Performance information for outputs affected by additional estimates

Outcome 1

Output	Performance information 2000-01
Output 1.2 Program Management	Quality: 75% of activities rated satisfactory overall or higher Quality: all major programs carried out in partnership Quality: tools and process implemented to ensure management of a high quality program that reflects Government priorities Quality: feedback on quality of tender information; decreasing number of late gazettals; number of contracts terminated or subject to litigation or serious disputation Quantity: number of programs; number of activities, number of new contracts signed and ongoing contracts managed Price: $57.458m (changed from $57.431m - adjustment due to additional supplementation for Comcover)

New outcome/output structure for Outcome 1

Changes to Outcome/Output structure arising from additional estimates

N/A for AusAID