Introduction

This special edition of the Statistical Summary provides information on Australia's aid program for 2005–06, 2006–07 and 2007–08.

The Australian Government's official development assistance (ODA) or aid program aims to assist developing countries reduce poverty and achieve sustainable development consistent with Australia's national interest.

The Statistical Summary reports on Australia's development cooperation with partner countries, multilateral organisations and non-government organisations (NGOs). It provides a range of information at the aggregate level, including geographical and sectoral statistics.

Program structure

The majority of the Australian Government's aid program is delivered through the Australian Agency for International Development (AusAID). For this publication, the aid resources managed by AusAID are reported at a number of different levels. The first of these levels are the main programs: Country and Regional, Global, and Departmental Expenditure.

AusAID's Country and Regional and Global programs, are then further broken down into a number of elements: including individual country programs, regional programs and global programs.

AusAID delivered Australian Government aid through this program structure over the period of this Statistical Summary (2005–06 to 2007–08 inclusive).

Australian ODA also includes aid activities funded by the Australian Centre for International Agricultural Research (ACIAR), and other Australian Government and State and Territory government departments and agencies (collectively known as other government departments or OGDs), under their own programs. These organisations also participate in the delivery of many activities funded by AusAID.

The Statistical Summary provides statistics across all Australian public sector aid, whether funded through AusAID or the OGDs.

Concepts and definitions

The concepts and definitions used in this Statistical Summary are for the most part consistent with the Statistical Reporting Directives of the Development Assistance Committee (DAC) of the OECD and are outlined in Appendix 1.

This publication reports on ODA in line with the definitions in Appendix 1. Only assistance to those countries included in the DAC's List of Aid Recipients can be considered ODA. (See Appendix 2 for DAC list).

The sectoral breakdown of Australia's aid uses the DAC's sector code descriptions and is an indication of the sector primarily benefiting from a particular activity. All activities, both AusAID's and those managed by OGDs, have been classified according to their DAC sector.

This publication includes information on the ODA/GNI ratio. In 1998, the Australian Bureau of Statistics changed its measure of the amount of national economic activity from Gross National Product (GNP) to Gross National Income (GNI), in line with international standards.

A list of abbreviations and symbols used in this publication is at Appendix 3.

Comparability with other AusAID publications

The methodology for compiling statistical information differs in some instances between this and other AusAID publications, including the annual ministerial statement on the aid budget and AusAID's Annual Report.

At a macro (or total ODA) level, the data in AusAID's publications match. Due to some divergence in compilation methods and the classification of some activities, there are differences at the detailed level.

Comparability with other donor countries

Statistics in this publication are stated in Australian dollars and reported on an Australian financial year basis (from 1 July to 30 June of the following calendar year). This may restrict, in some instances, a direct comparison between Australia's development cooperation and that of other donor countries.

However, Australia reports its development cooperation to the DAC in United States dollars on a calendar year basis to facilitate comparability between donor countries. This includes statistical information at the activity level, which can be accessed through the DAC's web site at <http://www.oecd.org/dac>.

A summary comparison of aid flows from individual OECD countries is provided in Table 19 of this Summary.

Sources of data

The statistical information in this publication is primarily sourced from AusAID databases and is based on data extracted in January 2010. Any revisions made to historical data after January 2010 will be reflected in future publications.

Statistical information on other donor countries' development assistance is sourced from the DAC.

Report layout

The tables and diagrams in this publication are presented in Sections 1 to 4. Section 5 provides explanatory and technical notes in four appendices.

Section 1 provides summary information on the entire Australian aid program for financial years 2005-2006 to 2007-2008. It includes details of Australia's development cooperation by program element, partner country and sector.

Section 2 provides more detailed information on Australia's development cooperation with partner countries over the same period.

Section 3 provides supplementary information on various aspects of Australia's development cooperation, including delivery through NGOs and multilateral organisations, and the destinations of Australia's humanitarian, emergency and food aid.

Section 4 provides an overview of all aid to developing countries provided by the countries of the OECD.

(a) Annual ODA flows at current prices are derived on the same basis as in AusAID's annual Budget Statement. Note that due to more complex and more accurate accrual adjustments to ODA flows in Budget calculations, the annual totals in Table 3 above can vary from the annual ODA in other tables in this Summary.

(b) Constant price figures are derived using Non-farm Implicit Price Deflators from the Australian Bureau of Statistics. These have been rebased to 2007–2008 and are listed in Appendix 4.

(c) GNI is Gross National Income

(d) Australian Government contributions towards educating private students from developing countries in Australian tertiary and secondary educational institutions was included for the first time in 1983–84.

(e) In 1988–89 there was a one off bringing forward of multilateral development bank payments. This had the effect of increasing 1988–89 but decreasing 1989–90 expenditure.

(a) The total of Official Development Assistance to countries eligible for development cooperation

(b) The sector categorisation in this table is based on sectors defined by the Development Assistance Committee (DAC) of the OECD

(c) Regional and other includes regional expenditure and countries in the region with expenses under $100,000 in 2005-06

(d) Includes large core payments under the Global programs to major multilateral organisations with global responsibilities. These Core payments support the overall operations of these organisations across the world, without being earmarked to a particular purpose. They are therefore allocated to "Global unspecified" rather than a particular country or region. Also includes AusAID's departmental costs within the sector category of Admin costs of donors.

(a) The total of Official Development Assistance to countries eligible for development cooperation

(b) The sector categorisation in this table is based on sectors defined by the Development Assistance Committee (DAC) of the OECD

(c) Regional & other includes regional expenditure and countries in the region with expenses under $100,000 in 2006–07

(d) Includes large core payments under the Global programs to major multilateral organisations with global responsibilities. These Core payments support the overall operations of these organisations across the world, without being earmarked to a particular purpose. They are therefore allocated to "Global unspecified" rather than a particular country or region. Also includes AusAID's departmental costs within the sector category of Admin costs of donors.

Explanatory and Technical Notes

Appendix 1

Concepts and Definitions

Accrual Accounting: The Australian Government moved to an accrual accounting framework in 1999–2000. As part of this framework, Australian Government expenditure, including AusAID expenditure, is calculated on an expenses basis for internal government budgeting and expenditure purposes.

AusAID Programs (also known as Programs): The Australian Government aid managed by AusAID is delivered through a number of AusAID Programs, which are the major managerial, administrative and accounting framework within which these Australian Government aid funds are deployed. There are three main types of aid delivery program used by AusAID—Country Programs, Regional Programs, and Global Programs.

Cash and Expenses: ODA is measured in terms of cash payments in a given time period, rather than expenses incurred over that period. Thus, for ODA statistics, some AusAID expenditure data needs to be adjusted from the expenses basis used in Australian Government financial records to a cash basis.

In particular, adjustments from expenses to cash are required in relation to expenditure to meet major multi-year liabilities such as commitments to the Asian Development Fund and International Development Association. For each financial year, these adjustments exclude the expenses recorded in relation to those commitments, but include the cash paid under those commitments in that year.

Adjustments are also made for items such as movements in creditors and depreciation.

Co-financing: is any arrangement under which a development activity is jointly funded by the Australian Government and a development organisation outside Australia, such as the World Bank, the Asian Development Bank or the United Nations Development Program (UNDP).

Constant Prices: These are prices expressed in terms of the price levels prevalent in a chosen base year. The use of constant prices eliminates the effect of inflation on a series of figures, making them directly comparable.

Core and Non-core payments: A core payment is the provision of donor funds to a development organisation without specific conditions as to the use of those funds, so that the organisation can use them for any purpose within its mandate. The funds thus become part of the general financial reserves of the organisation. Non-core payments are those where the donor specifies any aspect of how the funds are to be used.

Country Programs: AusAID has a separate Country Program for each major partner country, which is planned and implemented jointly with the partner government. Each Country Program is an integrated package of mutually agreed activities, developed and implemented under an agreed country strategy. In dollar terms it is often the largest AusAID program delivering benefits in the partner country.

Current Prices: These are prices expressed in terms of the actual price levels prevalent in the year of expenditure. They state expenditure without any adjustment for inflation, and are sometimes known as nominal prices.

Departmental Expenditure: For any Australian Government Department or Agency, Departmental expenditure is the costs of operating the organisation concerned. Departmental expenditure on aid includes such costs as salaries, equipment costs, rent and other running expenses of AusAID in administering international development cooperation.

Development Assistance Committee (DAC): This is the main committee of the Organisation for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD) on aid matters, and a key forum of major bilateral donors. The key functions of the DAC are to:

- i. adopt authoritative policy guidance for DAC Members;
- ii. conduct periodic reviews of its Members' development cooperation programs;
- iii. provide a forum for dialogue, exchange and the building of international consensus on aid-related policy and management issues of interest to Members; and
- iv. publish statistics and reports on aid and other resource flows to developing countries and related matters, based principally on reporting by Members.

Expenses and Cash: See Cash and Expenses above.

Global Programs: These are specialised AusAID programs which deliver development benefits across the developing world. They include contributions to international organisations; emergency, humanitarian and refugee programs; contributions to Non-government organisations (NGOs) and volunteer programs; development education and public information; development research; and the International Seminar Support Scheme (ISSS).

The non-farm implicit price deflator: This is a measure of inflation in the non-farm part of the Australian economy. It provides an index of the overall movement in the prices of goods and services produced in Australia, excluding the farm sector, whether produced for domestic consumption or for export. It is regularly calculated by the Australian Bureau of Statistics.

Programs: See AusAID Programs above.

Multilateral Flows: resources channelled via international organisations active in development such as the World Bank, the Asian Development Bank, UN Development Program (UNDP), UN Children's Fund (UNICEF) and World Food Program.

Non-AusAID Expenditure: covers development cooperation funded by Australian official sector organisations other than AusAID. It includes aid expenditure by the Australian Government's Australian Centre for International Agricultural Research (ACIAR) and other Commonwealth and Australian State Government departments or agencies. It also includes any funding of aid activities by the local government level in Australia.

Official Development Assistance (ODA): Official development assistance is defined as those flows to countries and territories on the DAC List of ODA Recipients and to multilateral development institutions which are:

- i. provided by official agencies, including state and local governments, or by their executive agencies; and
- ii. each transaction of which:
  - a) is administered with the promotion of the economic development and welfare of developing countries as its main objective; and
  - b) is concessional in character and conveys a grant element of at least 25 per cent (calculated at a rate of discount of 10 per cent).

Some core payments to multilateral organisations are only partially reportable as ODA. For example, the table below shows the percentage of core payments to the multilateral organisations listed which can currently be counted as ODA. (The percentages can be periodically updated as the proportion of the organisation's work which benefits developing countries changes over time.)

FAO	51%	Food and Agricultural Organisation
GEF	96%	Global Environment Facility
ILO	15%	International Labour Organisation
ITU	18%	International Telecommunications Union
UNESCO	25%	United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organisation
UNO	12%	United Nations Organisation
UPU	16%	Universal Postal Union
WHO	70%	World Health Organisation
WIPO	3%	World Intellectual Property Organisation
WMO	4%	World Meteorological Organisation

Other Official Flows (OOF): official sector transactions to aid-eligible countries or organisations which do not meet the ODA/OA criteria, eg:

- i. grants to aid recipients for representational or essentially commercial purposes;
- ii. official bilateral transactions intended to promote development but having a grant element of less than 25 per cent;
- iii. official bilateral transactions, whatever their grant element, that are primarily export-facilitating in purpose. This category includes, by definition, export credits extended directly to an aid recipient by an official agency or institution ("official direct export credits");
- iv. the net acquisition by governments and central monetary institutions of securities issued by multilateral development banks at market terms;
- v. subsidies (grants) to the private sector to soften its credits to aid recipients; and
- vi. funds in support of private investment.

Regional Programs: These are specialised AusAID aid delivery programs which deliver an integrated program of Australian government activities across a region (or regions) of interest to Australia. Activities are usually planned and delivered under a single regional program strategy, and usually benefit more than one country. For aid statistics, expenditure is allocated between countries of benefit whenever identifiable.

Technical Cooperation (TC), also known as Technical Assistance (TA):

Technical cooperation/technical assistance can be classified as free-standing or investment-related.

1. Free-standing technical cooperation (technical assistance) comprises activities financed by a donor country whose primary purpose is to augment the level of knowledge, skills, technical know-how or productive aptitudes of the population of developing countries, i.e. increasing their stock of human intellectual capital, and/or their capacity for more effective use of their available factor endowments.

2. Investment-related technical cooperation (technical assistance) is defined as the financing of services by a donor country with the primary purpose of contributing to the design and/or implementation of a project or programme aiming to increase the physical capital stock of a developing country. These services include consulting services, technical support, the provision of know-how linked to the execution of an investment project, and the contribution of the donor's own personnel to the actual implementation of the project (managers, technicians, skilled labour etc.).

1987–88	1.884	55.4	2003–04	1.189	87.8
1988–89	1.728	60.4	2004–05	1.143	91.3
1989–90	1.626	64.2	2005–06	1.092	95.6
1990–91	1.549	67.4	2006–07	1.044	100.0
1991–92	1.517	68.8	2007–08	1.000	104.4

2007–08 Constant Price Deflators are derived using the Non-Farm Implicit Price Deflators (IPD's) of Gross Domestic Product provided by the Australian Bureau of Statistics. 2007–08 constant prices are calculated using the following formula:

Where:  $p$  (constant) is constant price

and:  $d$  (base) is the Implicit Price deflator for the base year (Year of constant price conversion)

Then:  $p$  (constant) =  $p$  (current)  $\times$   $d$  (base) /  $d$  (current)

For example to calculate 2004–05 ODA in 2007–08 constant prices, take the 2004–05 current price (2198.54—refer Table 3 “Australian ODA” ) and multiply it by the IPD for 2007–08 (104.4) and divide by the IPD for 2004–05 (91.3) below:

$$2513.99 = 2198.54 \times (104.40 / 91.30)$$

STANDARD $US / $A EXCHANGE RATES

The DAC provides data on ODA expenditure by all OECD members states in $US terms to allow:

- comparison between states
- the application of standardised statistical measures, and
- aggregation of the data from different members states in relation to geographic areas, sectors and key policy objectives.

For these purposes, and to ensure comparability, all ODA expenditure by members states is converted to $US relative to standard set of exchange rates between US$ and the currency of each member state. This standard set of rates is determined and published below.

The standardised $US / $A exchange rate provided by the DAC for these international statistical purposes is tabulated below.
